
Balanced Feminine Path

Digital wellness support for midlife women

Perimenopause Meal Plan for Energy and Mood

A simple food structure for steadier energy, mood, and fewer crashes

This meal guide helps you eat in a way that supports energy without making food more complicated.

It is a practical rhythm, not a strict diet.

This workbook supports education and personal reflection. It is not medical advice. Talk with your doctor or another qualified healthcare professional about symptoms, treatment, supplements, or medication.

Meal structure basics

- Start meals with protein
- Use fiber-rich carbs instead of living on snacks
- Add healthy fats so meals hold longer
- Hydrate before assuming you need more caffeine
- Do not skip breakfast if it leads to a hard afternoon crash

14-day rhythm

- Week 1: regular meals and hydration
- Week 2: notice cravings, crashes, and mood dips
- Repeat the meals that keep you fullest and clearest

Planning pages include

- Breakfast, lunch, dinner, and snack templates
- A grocery builder
- Craving and blood sugar reflections
- A reset page for busy weeks

This workbook supports education and personal reflection. It is not medical advice. Talk with your doctor or another qualified healthcare professional about symptoms, treatment, supplements, or medication.